'EASY DOES IT' IN BAY ST. LOUIS

Road movie featuring Linda Hamilton partially filmed on Hancock Co. beaches

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

An independent film shot in part in Bay St. Louis -- and featuring Linda Hamilton of "Terminator" fame -- will screen today at the Southern State Indie Fan Film Festival in Biloxi.

"Easy Does It," described as a "retro-stylized '70s road movie," will kick off the fest at 7 p.m. at the Palace Casino Resort.

"The film is a road adventure about the unlikely friendship between two scrappy anti-heroes and their accidental hostage as they rob their way across America," according to a press release from Worklight Pictures.

"The movie was quite a journey," Ben Matheny, an Ocean Springs native who co-wrote and produced the film as well as starring in it -- said Tuesday. "We, all of us that came together to make this movie, we all met in film school at the University of New Orleans around 2009 and 2010, and we all had big dreams.

"This was really a dream come true, it was really a great opportunity. We're lucky that in New Orleans, there is a good film industry and we're able to get so much work. … Not only in New Orleans, but also in south Mississippi, where we shot a lot of this film."

Of the total six weeks spent shooting the picture, Matheny said, the crew spent about five days filming in Bay St. Louis.

"A few key scenes that are set on beaches that are actually supposed to be in California were going to be shot in Texas," Matheny said, "but thankfully, we had beautiful beaches not even an hour from our

Supers hear update on Gulf Coast Mental Health

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Hancock County Board Attorney Gary Yarborough on Monday gave an update on the financial status of Gulf Coast Mental Health.

In July 2019, the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center Board of Commissioners announced that the center would not have "funding to provide services beyond Aug. 11."

GCMHC provides mental health services in Hancock, Harrison, Pearl River, and Stone counties. Satellite offices are located in each county and the counties' respective boards of supervisors appoint one member each to the Region XIII Commission, which serves as the board of directors, the GCMH website states.

The Hancock County satellite office is located at 819-B Central Ave. in Bay St. Louis.

GCMH receives financial support through "federal block grants, Medicaid reimbursements, the Mississippi Department of Mental Health, county taxes, contractual agreements, fees for services, and contributions, both direct and throughout the United Way," the website states.

Last year, the Mississippi Department of Mental Health advanced $1.5 million or 50 percent of its annual allocation to agency from its 2020 budget and participating counties followed suit.

Yarborough said at a special board meeting in July 2019 that GCMH operates on an almost $12 million annual budget and that the advance payments from the participating entities would keep GCMH in operation for about three

Clydesdales hoofing it back to Bay St. Louis

The famed Budweiser Clydesdales are returning to Bay St. Louis on Jan. 31.

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The famed Budweiser Clydesdales are coming back to Bay St. Louis on Jan. 31 as part of another tour of the Mississippi Gulf Coast, courtesy of Mitchell Distributing.

"Oh my gosh, what a gift!" Nikki Moon, owner of the Bay Town Inn and a member of the board of directors for Visit Mississippi Gulf Coast said after the clydesdales' visit last February. "I think Bay St. Louis was so fortunate to be included in their tour of the Coast and what a special night it was for everybody … . It was a great, fun night."

Bay St. Louis was the third stop on the four-city tour for the clydesdales last year. Earlier that week, they visited Biloxi and Gulfport, then Ocean Springs the day after the stop in the Bay.

Bay St. Louis was the only city on the tour to turn the clydesdales' visit into an actual parade, and drew a huge crowd downtown in the process.

The full schedule for this year's tour isn't yet available, but according to Mitchell Distributing's Facebook page, the clydesdales will visit the Coast from Jan. 29-Feb. 2. The city of Bay St. Louis Facebook page says only that the horses will be in town on the 31st.

Anheuser-Busch began the clydesdale tradition in 1933 to mark the end of Prohibition, delivering cases of beer to the then-mayor of New York and President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"For folks who came out to see the clydesdales in Old Town, I hope they saw all that Bay St. louis has to offer, even when we don't have a parade," Moon said, "so that they will continue to come down and explore Bay St. Louis and support our unique shops, galleries, restaurants and taverns."

home base in New Orleans.

"We got a tremendous amount of support from all of the communities in South Mississippi. The community in Mississippi really blew everybody away with their generosity and their openness and their offer to support us any way they could. In Mississippi, they really went above and beyond. Several Gulf Coast restaurants donated food and the town council of Bay St. Louis, not only let us shoot on their beautiful beaches, but also let us use the council chambers.

"I'm just blown away by how supportive everybody was. I don't know if you could find that anywhere else in the country."

Matheny said the Mississippi Film Commission was also incredibly helpful and doesn't get the recognition it should.

"The Mississippi Film Commission really does a good job and I think that's something people aren't really aware of

And while they're helping filmmakers and artists, they're also supporting the local economy, whether it's catering from a restaurant, or getting supplies from a local store or getting hotel rooms for actors. … They make it really easy for filmmakers to come in from New Orleans or Atlanta or L.A. or anywhere to come here and experience and showcase the culture of Mississippi."

In addition to Matheny and Hamilton, the film also features Bryan Batt, Dwight Henry and the vocal talents of John Goodman and Harry Shearer, as well as original music from Patrick Carney of The Black Keys.

Since the film's premiere at the New Orleans Film Festival, it has won 10 awards on the festival circuit, including multiple best picture honors and wins for director, screenplay and for Linda Hamilton's performance, according to the press release.

"It's fun to watch," Matheny said. "It's a good time at the movies. It's not really for kids, but otherwise something that everyone in the family can enjoy. It's kind of a crowd-pleaser. … It's a movie about following one's dreams, even when that's a bit foolhardy.

"It's a cool thing to think about in this day and age, but it's totally possible to have a dream and pursue it. I'm pursuing my dream as an actor, and I think there are a lot of folks in Mississippi who can work in their dream field, whatever that might be."

The festival is scheduled to conduct its awards ceremony on Friday, where "Easy Does It" is nominated for Best of Fest, Best Southern State Film, Best Actor (nominations for both of its leads, Ben Matheny and Matthew Martinez), Best Supporting Actress (Linda Hamilton), Best Supporting Actor (Bryan Batt), Best Cinematography and Best Director.

months.

At that July special meeting, the board voted to advance 50 percent — or $110,000 of the county's FY 2020 budget allocation — to GCMH.

Yarborough said Monday that since the advancement, Memorial has helped with GCMH's billing.

"They had a huge billing problem and had about 12 months that went uncollected," Yarborough said. "So we've been monitoring them and the last report we had in December was that they were turning it around and had about $800,000 balance."

However, Yarborough said that on Friday he received a call from Kyle Lewis, the county's representative on the GCMH board.

"They had anticipated a $400,000 grant coming soon, they thought it was coming at the end of December," Yarborough said. "It did not come. They have a payroll right now on Jan. 15. In the instance that they do not get that $400,000 grant money, they can't make the payroll."

Yarborough said he has been in discussions with Harrison County and the state.

Yarborough also added that GCMH anticipates "liquidity problems again in March."

In addition to the 50 percent advance, Hancock County has also been providing the prorated portion of the remaining allotment, which is about $20,000 per month, beginning Oct. 1,Yarborough said.

He said that Harrison County also plans to meet with state agencies.

Hancock County Administrator Eddie Favre said that it's his understanding that the two other entities made their initial advance payments but did not start making the regular yearly monthly payments.

"So to possibly at least get us past the Jan. 15 payroll problem is that if the other two entities would come back and pay a portion of their remaining balance," Favre said.

The board took no official action, but Yarborough said that he will be in touch with the state and find out its intent as far as helping GCMH and also figuring a "Plan B" as far as operations and services go.

He added that Pearl River County has since left the district.

In other action:

Prior to Monday's meeting, Hancock County Judge Trent Favre swore in the county's newly- elected officials, which also included the incumbent supervisors, Scotty Adam (District 4), Bo Ladner (District 5), and Greg Shaw (District 2). New to the board are Theresa Ryan (District 1) and Kodie Koennen (District 3).

The board elected Adam as board president and Shaw as board vice-president for 2020.

The board also approved several 2020 re-appointments: Yarborough as board attorney; Favre as county administrator; Nancy Kelly as county comptroller; Geoff Clemens as county engineer; Vic Johnson as county road manager; all current county employees to their current positions and current salaries; and Brian Adam as county EMA director.

The board announced that, effective Jan. 6, Caesar Necaise Road will be closed due to the replacement of the Caesar Necaise Road Bridge over Hickory Creek. Detour routes will be posted.

The board approved a motion authorizing the board president to sign the close out documents related to the Heritage Trail Possum Walk Trail Repair project.

The board also approved a motion to amend the contract with B&H Lawn Service to include a scope of work for Possum Walk Trail for an annual amount of $4,800.

The board also approved a motion to keep Possum Walk Trail opened year round.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Jan. 21 at 9 a.m.

Celebrating a Life

On Monday, my mom and I went to Ellisville to attend the funeral of our cousin, who was taken far too early, thanks to cancer.

When she found out she had cancer, she opted to not take treatments. She knew how sick they can make a person and wanted to spend the rest of her life here on Earth with a good quality of life.

I respect that decision, for it couldn't have been an easy one. She was the mother of two and grandmother to three small adorable grandchildren.

For her, the decision to choose quality over quantity was the right one.

Staff Column

By Cassandra Favre

But there are some who choose to fight these types of illnesses, whether it be because they are young enough to endure the treatment or have a fierce will to beat the odds.

I believe that both decisions are admirable and unique to each situation.

People who don't choose treatment should not be harshly judged nor should people who do undergo treatments.

I've seen firsthand the effects of treatments such as chemotherapy and if faced with it myself, I'm not exactly sure which route I would take.

As I sat there during her funeral, I got to thinking, as I do, about my own mortality and what I would like my own funeral to look like. I know, it's a little morbid, but hear me out.

In my experience, funerals have always been very somber events, as I'm sure they are for most. I've been to funerals for people of all ages and it never gets any easier to say goodbye, even when we know death is imminent. When it's a sudden death, it's definitely harder to say goodbye to someone we love and care for.

The preacher kept referring to a "celebration," celebrating the fact that my cousin was a believer in Jesus Christ and was now in heaven.

But, there was no celebrating so to speak. And of course, family members are grieving for the loss of their loved one. There are so many that I miss and think about every day.

But, when I think about them, I think about the ways in which they loved life.

I'm not saying we should throw a Mardi Gras- type party when people pass away, but I also don't see the harm in it.

I attended one funeral where the deceased requested that no one wear black clothing, which is typical funeral attire, to her funeral.

In New Orleans, many funerals are accompanied with an upbeat second line.

I'm assuming some will say that I'm wrong or being disrespectful to the deceased for thinking a funeral should

Wicker Looks Ahead to the 2020s

Solid Fundamentals Give Reasons for Optimism

From the Senate

by Roger Wicker

U.S. Senator

The 2020s have begun, and this decade has the potential for solid progress. Communities should be able to grow and develop alongside businesses small and large. New inventions will undoubtedly alter people's daily lives, and events across the world will create opportunities and challenges for our nation and our allies.

America is entering this new decade on a solid foundation with a surging economy, a stronger military, and constantly improving technology. Our Constitution is now the oldest governing document for a major country, underpinning the rule of law here at home. And, with nearly 200 new conservative federal judges confirmed to the bench in the last three years, my colleagues in the Senate and I are working to guarantee that the United States' constitutional system will endure.

TECHNOLOGY, RURAL BROADBAND, DEFENSE, AND THE NEXT GIANT LEAPS

A new year is a time for resolutions. As a policymaker, I remain focused on building on this American progress and resolved to make this another great era for our country.

An immediate area for growth is 5G – the fifth generation of wireless technology. When 4G came out in the 2010s, it unleashed whole new industries. For example, it allowed phones, tablets, and laptops to access the internet and enabled wireless video streaming and new applications. Thousands of companies and hundreds of thousands of jobs were created. 5G has enormous potential today, with the promise to bring more than $500 billion in economic growth and 3 million new jobs.

Winning the race to 5G is one of my top priorities as chairman of the Senate Commerce Committee. At the same time, as the United States takes this next step in wireless connectivity, our country should continue the work to connect every home and business to the internet. That starts with expanding rural broadband, which will require a concentrated national effort. I am leading that fight in the Senate by advocating for renewed funding and investments to close the digital divide between rural and urban America.

The United States also needs to maintain our military edge over potential rivals like China and Russia. The Trump Administration showed the way forward with its National Defense Strategy in 2018. Congress recently approved the National Defense Authorization Act, advancing the administration's efforts. That law makes it clear that we are pushing for updated equipment, more investments in personnel, and new programs – including

Black-bellied Whistling Duck

Conservation Corner

by James L. Cummins

The black-bellied whistling duck (Dendrocygna autumnalis), is a whistling duck that breeds from the southern parts of North America down to south-central South America. One of only two whistling-duck species native to North America, this duck is usually referred to as simply "the whistling duck."

Once described by an early American birder as the most un-duck-like, the black-bellied whistling duck is an unusual species among North American waterfowl. With its long legs, peculiar appearance, and odd habits, the black-bellied whistling duck is a mid-sized waterfowl species. The male and female look alike and have long red bills, long, pale-gray heads, somewhat long legs, and mostly gray-brown plumage. There is a lot of white in the wings, but this is more obvious when they are observed in flight. Juveniles are similar in appearance, but have a gray bill and a less contrasting belly.

Because of its unique appearance, the black-bellied whistling duck is often discernible. With an upright stance, long pink legs, and long neck, the adults are unlikely to be confused with any other bird within their range. The wing bar is unique, but may be hard to discern when on the ground. The fulvous whistling duck is the only sympatric duck that shows the similar whitish flank stripe, however; it differs from the black-bellied in that it has dark wings and a lighter belly rather than the other way around.

The black-bellied whistling duck is very social with its own species–forming large flocks when not breeding. It usually nests in hollow trees found within its preferred habitat of quiet, shallow freshwater ponds, lakes and marshes, cultivated land, or reservoirs with abundant vegetation.

The black-bellied whistling duck feeds mostly at night, but can also be encountered eating at any hour of the day. They ingest a wide variety of plant material, but also consume insects and aquatic invertebrates if necessary. They often eat as they wade through shallow water, picking at submerged vegetation.

Unique among ducks in their strong monogamous pair-bond, the black-bellied whistling duck stays with its mate for many years. Both parents share all responsibilities associated with raising their young, from incubation to rearing. Primarily cavity nesters, these ducks prefer the confines of a hollow-tree, but will nest on the ground when necessary. However, to avoid nesting on the ground, they have been known to nest in abandoned rooftops, chimneys, or nest boxes. The ducklings mature rather rapidly, leaping from the nest within 2 days of hatching and feeding themselves immediately. However, the young ducklings stay with their parents for up to 8 weeks.

The existence of healthy coastal wetlands greatly benefits the black-bellied whistling duck. Current populations seem to be strong enough to sustain hunting at present levels, which are lower than in the past and aimed mostly at preventing large numbers of these birds gathering on fields where they may harm crops.

The show is directed and produced by Cheryl Grace. The cast includes Mike Schultz, Keith Gregory, Lana Price, Paul Bernard, Terry Cullen, Jen Coulter, Michelle LeBlanc, Cheryl Grace, and Amy Cabrera. The Stage Manager is Isabella Roselli. Jen Coulter did set design and construction. Volunteer coordinator is Rachel Anderson. Sound effects and promotion is done by Clayton Pennylegion.

New Bishop Announced

On Sunday the 26th of December, the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day-Saints announced a change in local leadership for the congregation which meets in Waveland. Theron Shields was sustained by the membership of the Waveland Ward of the Church as the new Bishop, with Matthew Sones and Shawn Harrison to act as his counselors. Bishops serve in the church without pay, usually for a period of 3 to 5 years as the position can be very demanding. Bishop Shields replaces Bishop Martin Homer who served the local Church for a little over 5 years. CELEBRATING be more about celebrating a life with some fanfare. And that's fine, we all think differently.

For me, I think I would mostly want people to have a good time at my funeral. Share some anecdotes about how we may have met; share stories about some of the embarrassing things I've done; or even talk about the things they didn't like about me. Spice it up a little.

I'm a music lover through and through. On the drive home, I thought about some of my favorite songs that I would want to share with anyone who would come to my funeral.

The Blind Boys of Alabama recorded a fantastic gospel album in New Orleans with Allen Toussaint, the Preservation Hall Jazz Band, and the Hot 8 Brass Band. It's called "Down in New Orleans" and I highly recommend it.

Since Broadway musicals hold a huge place in my heart, I would love to have some highlights from "Les Miserables," "Phantom of the Opera," "The Waitress," or "Hamilton" playing.

And as an homage to my teenage years, there could be some tracks from N'SYNC, the Spice Girls, No Doubt, and more.

But I would also want classics from Frank Sinatra, Bobby Darin, Howlin' Wolf, Rodgers and Hammerstein, Elvis Costello, Elvis Presley, and more.

I am in no way saying this is how people should perform funerals on the norm, nor am I trying to disrespect the way in which most funerals are conducted.

Losing someone to death is one of the most painful things we experience. But it's inevitable.

I think it's how they lived their lives that matters most. It's the impact they left on those left behind. And that can be through anything such as their words, their particular talents, etc.

I think their funeral should be more or less a reflection of that, a celebration of what they meant to friends and family and the things they loved.

It's nice to honor our departed ones doing something that they themselves enjoyed doing during their lifetime.

For instance, we still go to the Fairgrounds to watch horse racing in New Orleans. We used to go every year with my Paw Paw. It's a way of keeping his memory alive in our hearts and continuing the traditions he started.

It's time to laissez les bon temps rouler -- Monday, Jan. 6, marked Twelfth Night, which signaled the beginning of the 2020 Carnival season, and there is a plethora of Mardi Gras activities planned in Hancock County.

"The first Mardi Gras celebration in Bay St. Louis occurred in 1896," according to Waveland author Russell Guerin's "Louisiana's Loss, Mississippi's Gain."

"Walter Gex reigned as the first king. At age sixteen, Julia Olivari, who later became Mrs. Reginald Blaize, reigned as the first queen. The next year, Robert Perre was king.

"Bay St. Louis had its own distinctive form of observing the Mardi Gras in 1904. The morning of Tuesday, Feb. 17, was spent in individual masking. At 2:30 p.m., the royal yacht Mizpah was sighted near Pass Marianne, and shortly afterward," according to the Feb. 20, 1904 edition of the Sea Coast Echo, "amid the booming of cannon and the strains of martial music, their gracious majesties landed at pier 990.

"The keys to the city were presented to Rex by Charles A. butler, Duke of Photography, who complimented his hinges in choosing Bay St. Louis as the capital of his kingdom, favoring it over the other towns along the coast. St. Stanislaus students sat down to their annual Mardi Gras spread at six o'clock and did annual justice to it."

The Mystic Krewe of the Seahorse will kick 2020's celebration off with its "Mutiny on the Bay Pirate Party" on Saturday, Jan. 18, from 6:30-11 p.m. at the Longfellow Civic Center, 122 1/2 Court St. in Bay St. Louis. Doors open at 6:20 p.m., with the presentation at 7 p.m. Tickets are $15 in advance or $20 at the door. For more, go to mkotsh.com or call 228-216-6416.

building up a 355-ship fleet for our Navy.

In addition, the 2020s will see strategic competition in space, and our country is set to put the first woman and the next man on the Moon by 2024. This will be followed by manned missions to Mars. The first space race of the 1960s gave us technologies that later enabled GPS, CT scans, and smart phones. This next effort could be just as revolutionary.

A REMARKABLE TURNAROUND

Giants leaps like the ones I have described did not seem possible at the start of the last decade, when some thought the worst of times were here to stay. Unemployment was up in 2010, the stock market and wages were down, and recession and uncertainty made many Americans pessimistic.

Today there is every reason for optimism. America is entering the 2020s with so many exciting possibilities accompanied by pro-growth policies which have unleashed the creativity and entrepreneurial spirit of our people. The United States is well positioned to ensure that the best of times are still to come.

NAACP Announces Keynote Speaker, Sally-Ann Roberts to head MLK, Jr. Celebration Banquet

SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock County NAACP is honored and pleased to announce that Mrs. Sally-Ann Roberts has graciously accepted our invitation to serve as keynote speaker at the 2020 Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration Banquet. The event will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Saturday, January 18th, St. Rose Holy Spirit Center, 301 S. Necaise Avenue, Bay St. Louis.

For more than 25 years, Sally-Ann Roberts co-anchored with Eric Paulsen the popular Eyewitness Morning News on WWL-TV New Orleans, and made the newscast one of the highest-rated morning newscasts in the country. During her 40 year career at WWL-TV, Roberts has anchored nearly every newscast on Channel 4, from 5 a.m. to 10 p.m. and weekends. Announcing her retirement in February 2018, she is remembered as being a beacon of light and hope to her viewers during the city's most difficult times.

As an Air Force "brat" Sally-Ann traveled extensively as a child. She was born in Chandler, Arizona to Colonel Lawrence Roberts of the legendary Tuskegee Airmen and Lucimarian Roberts. Sally-Ann spent her childhood on the move living in many cities throughout the country including abroad in Izmir Turkey. When Sally-Ann was in high school her family settled in Biloxi, Mississippi at Keesler Air Force Base. She graduated from Biloxi High School and then attended the University of Southern Mississippi where she received both her Bachelor's and Master's degrees.

Sally-Ann began her tenure at WWL-TV on March 31, 1977. As a City Hall reporter, she covered city government during the administrations of Moon Landrieu, Ernest Morial, and Sidney Barthelemy. In 1998 she was part of the reporting team that earned WWL-TV the coveted Edward R. Murrow Award for late-breaking news.

Certainly her most cherished accomplishment occurred in the fall of 2012 when she donated her bone marrow to her sister Robin Roberts who was suffering from a life-threatening disease called MDS. Since then both sisters have traveled advocating for donors to be added to the National Bone Marrow registry by speaking at conferences ranging from the National Conference of Be The Match in Minneapolis, MN to the STEM Cell Conference at The Vatican in Rome. They both received recognition in 2013 from the New Orleans Sports Hall of Fame as well as Coachart in Los Angeles, CA.

In 2012 the NAACP National Health Committee presented Sally-Ann with the Unsung Hero award. That same year she was also recognized by the National Urban league with the Women of Power Award. Among her most prized recognitions are the 2014 Louisiana Association of Broadcasters Lifetime Achievement Award and the Press Club of New Orleans 2015 Lifetime Achievement Award.

In 1994 Sally-Ann co-founded with Cathy Harris the mentorship organization, Each One Save One. Over the years, the non-profit organization has recruited, screened, trained and placed hundreds of mentors in schools and organizations across the metro area.

For nearly two decades, Sally-Ann hosted the teen talk show, "Our Generation". Young people who appeared on that program are now working around the country as journalists, educators, engineers and other fine professions. Sally-Ann is happy to say she knew them "when".

Aside from her career in the media, Sally-Ann is often in high demand as a motivational speaker across the country. Her audiences range from faith-based organizations to the corporate world including VITAS (National Black Nursing Association).

Sally-Ann is the author of three books, "Going Live...An Anchorwoman Reports Good News", the novel "Angelvision" and the very inspirational "Your Power Is On" with the photography done by her Co-anchor Eric Paulsen. All three books are published by Pelican Press. After being a widow for five years, Sally-Ann remarried in 2007. She is the proud mother of three children and grandmother of five. Asked to what she attributes any success she may have achieved, Sally-Ann gives all honor, glory and praise to God.

Is It Breakfast, or Is It Brunch?

BY LINDA BIGLER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

What is the defining difference between breakfast and brunch? Usually breakfast is eaten earlier in the morning and brunch is served somewhere between 10:00 am and noon. What do I know? I am just an old woman who writes this column gratis. I did see a sign once that said brunch without alcohol was just a sad late breakfast. Regardless of what it is called, here are a few dishes to get your day started.

The first recipe is uncomplicated and can be served for breakfast or brunch. Use either regular or quick cooking oats for the pancakes. Do not use an electric mixer; overbeating will make the pancakes tough. The pecans can be omitted, chocolate chips can be added if desired.

Pecan Oatmeal Pancakes

1 and one-half cup uncooked oats

3 cups whole milk

4 large eggs, beaten

One half cup melted butter

2 and one-half cups all-purpose flour

One fourth cup sugar

2 tablespoons baking powder

1 teaspoon salt

One half cup chopped, lightly toasted pecans

In a medium bowl, combine oats and milk. Allow to stand for 5 minutes. Heat griddle according to manufacturer's directions (about 350 degrees) and lightly brush with vegetable oil. Add eggs and melted butter to oat mixture. Blend well. Combine flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt. Add the combined dry ingredients to oat mixture and stir until just blended. Fold in pecans. For each pancake, pour about one fourth cup of the batter onto the prepared griddle. Turn when bubbles appear on the surface.

Serves 6 to 8

This next dish is perfect for brunch. It can be assembled the night before and baked the next morning. Since it contains brandy, I do not advocate serving it to children. Regardless of what you may have heard or read, the alcohol does not completely cook out of food when heated. Do not be too concerned with the sizes of the canned fruit, just approximate. Food manufactures are constantly changing the volume to make the consumer think the prices are not increasing. The prices may not be increasing, but in many cases, the volume is decreasing.

Hot Brandied Fruit

2 (15 ounce) cans apricot halves

2 (15 ounce) cans pear halves

2 (15 ounce) cans pineapple chunks

2 (15 ounce) cans peach halves

2 (10 ounce) jars maraschino cherries

One half cup melted butter

1 cup light brown sugar

One half cup brandy

2 teaspoons cinnamon

One half teaspoon freshly grated nutmeg

One fourth teaspoon ground ginger

One fourth teaspoon ground cloves

Drain the fruit. Save and combine the pineapple, peach, and cherry juice. Use 1 cup of the combined juices. Add the sugar to the melted butter, stir until smooth. Add the reserved 1 cup of juices and the remaining ingredients. Stir until combined. Place into a 3-quart baking dish. At this point, the dish can be covered and refrigerated for up to 12 hours or baked immediately. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes or until bubbly.

Serves 10 to 12

The amounts in the next recipe can be halved or doubled to accommodate the numbers of diners.

Gouda Cheese and Grits

4 cups chicken stock

3 cups whole milk

2 teaspoons salt

One half teaspoon pepper

One half teaspoon Tabasco

1 and one fourth cups regular grits

8 ounces (2 cups) shredded Gouda cheese

3 tablespoons butter

Place stock, milk, salt, pepper, and Tabasco in a 3-quart saucepan and bring to a boil over medium heat. Slowly add grits while whisking. Bring to a boil while whisking, immediately reduce to a simmer, cover and cook 20 minutes or until thickened, stirring every 5 minutes. Remove from the heat, stir in the cheese and butter. Serve immediately with thick cut bacon or fried ham.

Serves 6 to 8

In order for your brunch not to be one of those sad late breakfasts, here are a couple of refreshing beverages to get your brunch off to a sensational start.

Blood Orange Mimosas

1 (750 ml) bottle well chilled Prosecco

3 cups freshly squeezed blood orange juice, well chilled

Pour equal parts Prosecco and juice into a well-chilled

Champaign flute and serve.

Serves 8

What would a brunch be without a bloody Mary? When my sister, Erica, and I were in England, a charming bartender with a proper British accent informed us that a bloody Mary without alcohol was a bloody shame.

Bloody Mary

2 ounces good vodka

4 ounces Linda's bloody Mary mix

Combine and pour into a glass filled with ice. Garnish with olives and a lemon slice.

Linda's Bloody Mary Mix:

1-quart chilled tomato juice

Juice of three Meyer lemons

1 tablespoon pickled jalapeno juice

2 teaspoons Creole seasoning

2 teaspoons Tabasco

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce

Combine all ingredients and chill for at least four hours.

Makes about a quart

I have seen bloody Marys garnished with countless ingredients; from the ubiquitous stalk of celery to fried soft shelled crabs with a fried turkey thrown in for good measure.

Breakfast or brunch, enjoy the meal with family and friends and have a bloody good time.

Meet Chip. This 3 yr old German Shepherd/Labrador Retriever/Husky mix, couldn't be more ready for his forever home. Chip is super friendly and outgoing when meeting new folks. In fact, he even met Santa at Pet Smart, and they became fast friends! Santa knew what good dog Chip had been all year. He sits on command, has gentlemanly manners, and is a quick learner. Chip loves other dogs, so we hope that his new home will include a fur sibling, so he'll have a playmate to romp-n-play with. He is also sweet with children, and would be a wonderful family pet. A single person, couple, or active retirees, looking for a walking partner and best buddy will certainly find those qualities in Chip. This smart chap seems to be both crate and house trained, and he walks well on a leash and harness. He loves going for walks, and sharing a walk together is a great way to bond. Chip has so much love and companionship to give his new family. He is just the perfect furbaby. Please come by the shelter at 7175 Texas Flat Rd, Kiln, to meet this joyous boy, and you'll know why we adore him so. Call 228 466 4516 for more information, and visit our Facebook page, Hancock County Animal Shelter, MS, to see more pictures of Chip and of the many other wonderful, adoptable pets looking for their forever homes.

DO YOU HOLD ONTO BITTER FEELINGS TOWARDS OTHERS?

BY GARY ANDREWS

If you harbor ill feelings and unforgiveness in your heart, are you considered a bitter person? Do you keep a list of the people that have treated you badly or wronged you and say, "Someday I will get even with them or I will have nothing to say or do with them?"

Yes, all of us have done this. I have seen these actions plenty of times over my lifetime and continue to see it today through some of my friends and family. All of us tend to have that inner feeling of retaliation or want to fight back. Sometimes these feelings are so strong that it creates bitterness in our heart and it shows to all of those around us, especially the ones that are close to us. Even though we hold on to bad feelings toward a relative, a friend, or just another person that we see or come in contact with very little, our closest family and friends have to put up with our actions and conversations because we are holding on to bitterness and will not let it go.

The Apostle Paul tells us in his letter to the Colossians 3:13, "If someone does wrong to you, forgive that person because the Lord forgave you."

Where would we be today if Jesus hadn't forgiven us and went to the cross to save us from the many sins we have committed and will commit in the future? Did Jesus have to do this for us? No! He gave His life freely and without reservation so that we may believe in Him and live with Him throughout eternity. It was His gift to us and all we have to do is ask Him to live in our heart and guide us each and every day.

If Jesus gave His life for us and forgave us for putting Him on the cross, then what is our problem of forgiving people that we feel have wronged us? I am sure it was not easy for Jesus to hang on the cross because of our sins and I am sure that all of us have trouble letting go of our grievances toward others.

Our life becomes better when we learn to let go of our inner feelings of ill will toward others and let the light of Jesus shine through us. We need to remember it is not what they did to me, but what Jesus did for me.

Prayer: Thank you Lord for taking my sins to the cross with you. I pray that you will forgive me of all my ill feelings toward others. Amen.

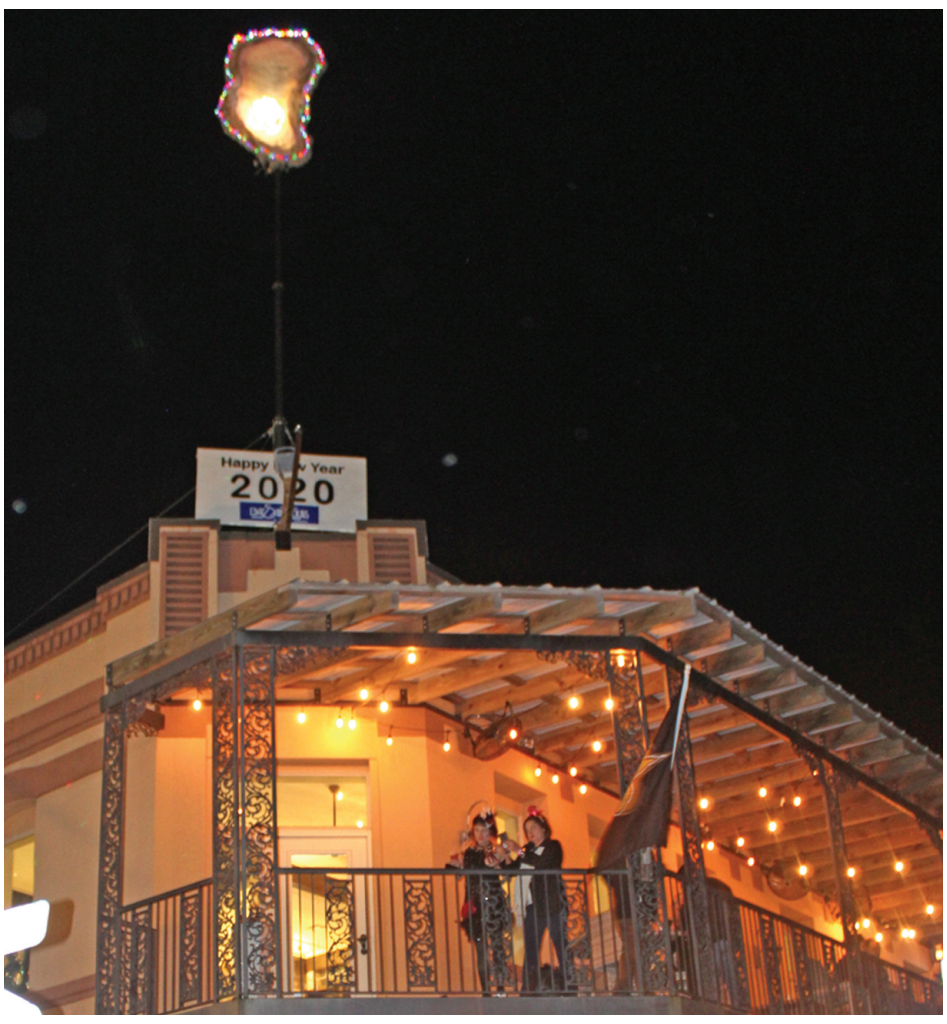
BSL RINGS IN 2020 WITH OYSTER DROP



Echo staff photos by Geoff Belcher

Hundreds of people crowded into the 200 block of North Beach Boulevard in Bay St. Louis on New Year's Eve for the city's first-ever "oyster drop."

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The 200 block of North Beach Boulevard in Old Town Bay St. Louis was packed elbow-to-elbow on New Year's Eve as hundreds of people huddled together to watch the first-ever Bay Oyster Drop.

The Dave Mayley Band performed outside the historic A&G Theatre while the crowd looked to the oyster atop 200 North Beach Restaurant, waiting for the countdown to midnight.

Jim MacPhaille owns both 200 North Beach and the theatre, and commissioned "Mad Potter" Steve Barney to create the oyster.

Barney said the oyster was carved from a 4x8 block of styrofoam with a Sawzall knife.

"It's overall dimension is seven feet tall by three feet wide, and it sits on top of an eight-foot pole which extends to 20 feet tall," Barney said.

The pole extension is operated by a pneumatic pump, he said.

MacPhaille thanked the crowd for showing up and pledged that "Next year is going to be even bigger and better."

Brennan ranked among top high school quarterbacks of last decade by MaxPreps

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Former St. Stanislaus College quarterback Myles Brennan had a memorizing high school career before he graduated in May 2017. It was such a prolific career that he was recognized by MaxPreps as one of the top high school signal callers over the last decade.

MaxPreps released their top statistical leaders of the decade on December 26, 2019, and Brennan occupied three spots in the 2010s decade.

Brennan was ranked fifth in the decade for most career passing yards with 15,138 from 2013-16. The leader for the decade was Jake Browning from Folsom, CA, with 16,775 yards from 2012-14.

Brennan tossed 166 career touchdown passes between 2013-16 which was good enough for eighth place on the list tied with Mason Fine of Locust Grove, OK. Browning, again, topped the category with 229 touchdown passes.

Brennan was third overall for single-season passing yards throwing for 5,797 yards in 2014. Alex Huston of Glendale (Springfield, MO) led the decade with 6,131 yards in 2016.

Brennan is listed 22 times in the national record book and his 5,797 passing yards is the most thrown in a season by a sophomore in history.

When Brennan's career was completed in 2016, he he held Mississippi state records for single-season passing yards (5,797), single-season touchdown passes (64), career passing yards (15,138), career touchdown passes (166), and career total offense (16,280).

He was named an All-American by MaxPreps, Under-Armour, and Parade following his senior season. Brennan won Mississippi's inaugural Class 4A Mr. Football in 2016 and led the Rock-a-chaws to the Class 4A state title game in 2014 and 2015.

He was selected for the Mississippi/Alabama All-Star game and the Under-Armour National All-Star game. He is also the only Mississippi prep quarterback ever selected to compete at the Elite 11 national quarterback competition at Nike's The Opening where he finished the competition ranked #2 overall behind current Alabama quarterback Tua Tagavailoa.

He was a consensus 4-star quarterback coming out of high school where 247Sports ranked him as the #6 pro-style quarterback in 2016. ESPN ranked him as the #96 player in the country regardless of position.

Brennan signed with Louisiana State University following high school where he is currently the backup to 2019 Heisman Trophy winner Joe Burrow.

Brennan has played in 17 games during his LSU career throwing for 600 yards and two touchdowns on 42-for-70 passing.

Brennan and the LSU Tigers will tangle with Clemson for the Division I national championship on Monday, January 13th in New Orleans at the Mercedes Benz Superdome.

SSC's 82-80 slobberknocker loss to Poplarville in 2012 ranked in Top 50 all-time games played by MaxPreps

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

On December 20, 2019, MaxPreps released its Top 50 high school football games of all-time and the area had a game ranked in that list. On October 12, 2012, the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws and the Poplarville Hornets waged war 'between the walls' with Poplarville claiming a 82-80 victory in the then-newly refurbished Brother Philip Memorial Athletic Complex

That game was ranked #44 on the list. It was a game that etched itself into not only the state's record books but also the national record books.

The only other game from Mississippi ranked was Olive Branch's 87-86 triple overtime win against DeSoto Central in 2015 which was ranked #34 on the list.

There are some unique storylines surrounding this game that goes deeper than the score which makes it rather appealing.

The Olive Branch/DeSoto Central game went into triple overtime after the teams were tied 70-70 at the end of regulation. It ranks as the highest scoring game in Mississippi history; however, the SSC/Poplarville matchup was a regulation game with no overtime which makes it the highest scoring regulation game in Mississippi history. And, it wasn't even the highest point total in a game for SSC. It was the fourth highest point total.

The most points scored by a SSC football team occurred in 1917, the program's second season, when they best the New Orleans Rugby Club 110-0. In 1919, the Rocks blasted Verina, LA, 83-0. And, the third highest point total came in the program's very first game in 1916 when the Rocks beat the New Orleans Ramblers 82-0

The Rocks were winless in 2012 posting a record of 0-9. They flipped the tables in 2013 going 10-0 in the regular season and advanced to the Class 4A state quarterfinals before losing to the eventual state champion Forrest County AHS Aggies on a late touchdown to finish with a 12-1 record. The Rocks became the first team to go from winless to undefeated regular season district champions in Mississippi history.

Both SSC and Poplarville racked up the yards in the game, as well. The Rocks posted a 937 yards of total offense while Poplarville tallied 845 yards. The mark for SSC was a national record at the time and still ranks in the top three in national history while Poplarville's total was fourth in history at the time and still ranks in the top 10 nationally.

Each team scored 12 touchdowns but the difference in the game was PAT's (Point After Touchdown). The Rocks missed their only PAT kick in the game and went for two each time after that. In the game, SSC was 4-for-11 on two-point conversions. Poplarville did not go for two at all and was 10-for-12 on PAT kicks in the game for the two-point difference.

The Rocks scored on eight of their nine first half possessions while Poplarville found the endzone on 7-of-9 first half possessions for a 60-49 halftime score in favor of the Rocks.

In the third quarter, Poplarville outscored SSC 20-6 in large part due to three third quarter fumbles which the Hornets converted to points.

With the Hornets in front 69-66 to start the final quarter, it set the stage for the finish.

In the game, SSC lost five fumbles and threw an interception while Poplarville lost just two fumbles.

SSC quarterback Tyler Allen threw for 443 yards and seven touchdowns on 25-of-37 passing. His scoring tosses went to Brennan Bradley (28, 30, 27, and 68), Chase Rhodes (9), Cody Logan (19), and Chase Zimmerman (21). Bradley led the receivers with nine catches for 222 yards followed by Rhodes with seven catches for 104 yards.

The Rocks gained 494 yards rushing the game led by Denzel Walker who rushed 16 times for 238 yards and touchdown. Logan added 155 yards rushing on 13 carries and a touchdown. Allen contributed 70 yards rushing on 10 carries and a touchdown. Joe Guillot added a one-yard scoring drive and Will Green returned a kickoff 67 yards for a touchdown to round out the scoring for SSC.

Poplarville, however, rushed for 707 yards in the game led by Jiquan James with 401 yards and five touchdowns on 37 carries. Rojae Raine scored twice and rushed for 172 yards on 17 carries. Malika Lucas had 12 carries for 92 yards and a touchdown. He also caught two passes for yards and a touchdown. The Hornets also scored a defensive touchdown.

The Rocks were penalized ten times for 101 yard while Poplarville had three yellow flags for 35 yards.

Tyler Allen went on to become the 2013 Mississippi Association of Coaches Class 4A Offensive Player of the Year and later played at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College. He is now an assistant coach at The University of West Virginia. Brennan Bradley later played football at The University of Louisiana-Monroe. Chase Rhodes went on to set Mississippi state records for single-season (115) and career (225) receptions and later played baseball for MGCCC. He was also named to the SSC All-Century team.

Ultimately, it allowed us to play with some confidence ahead in the second half. As we head into division play, we need the focus to be on us and solidify what we do. We have a great tradition here. We have to do what we do well and give ourselves a chance to be successful."

Ladner & Golden Eagles held in check by LA Tech 80-49, Rigby gets minutes on the floor

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

Former St. Stanislaus College head basketball coach Jay Ladner is in his first season at his alma mater, The University of Southern Mississippi, as the head men's basketball coach after serving in the same capacity at Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond the past five seasons.

Ladner and his Golden Eagles (4-10, 0-1) opened their Conference USA schedule with a 80-49 loss to the LA Tech on Monday, December 30th at Reed Green Coliseum in Hattiesburg.

The Golden Eagles only led twice in the contest with the last time coming with 8:49 left to play in the first half when Gabe Watson hit a jumper to put USM up 10-9.

The Golden Eagles were down at halftime 31-24 and in a position that Ladner felt comfortable with. Ladner stated, "First, hats off to Louisiana Tech which is a great team in this league. They have experienced strong guards that control the floor and the ball. We struggled all game to get off good shots but we felt like we were in a good position at halftime. However, they started the second half on a 13-0 run. We are a young squad that needs to get experience and learn how to play at that next speed which LA Tech showed tonight."

In the first half, USM shot only 33% from the floor while LA Tech shot 46%. However, the most important stat line was from behind the arc where LA Tech shot 45.5% for the game going 10-for-22 while USM was 0-for-16.

Tyler Stevenson led USM with 12 points and six rebounds while LA Tech was paced by a quartet of experienced guards led by Daquan Bracey with 17 points, Kalob Ledoux with 15, and Amorie Archibald and Derric Jean with 12 points each.

Yes, this was a loss that not many people want to talk about but you cannot build something without a foundation. LA Tech is a favorite in this league because four of their starting five are seniors. Lad er and his crew have their work cut out for them because four his starting five are sophomores or younger.

Ladner, a coaching legend in the high school ranks during his 20 seasons at the helm of the Rocks' ship from 1991-2011, won over 500 games before stepping up to the collegiate ranks at Jones County Junior College from 2012-14 where he led the Bobcats to the NJCCAA national championship.

During the championship run by JCJC, the Bobcats became the lowest seeded team to win a national title and the first to win five games in as many days in the tournament.

After JCJC, Ladner stepped up to the Division I level at SELA where he eventually brought home a regular season conference title and took the Lions to the NIT in 2018.

Ladner has always had success with his players running his system and process. At SSC, that was most evident as he led the Rocks to 10 state tournament appearances and the 2011 Class 4A state title.

At SELA, he had several former SSC players including Daniel Grieves, Davon Hayes, Ramone Tate, Malcolm Reid and Jerrod Rigby.

Rigby played his redshirt year at SELA under Ladner before he transferred to Pearl River CC where he played two seasons for the Wildcats.

Last season, Rigby attended USM just as a student and did not play. However, when Ladner got hired, he visited with his old coach and inquired about joining the team.

Rigby stated, "This year is a different year than when I played for him the first time at Southeastern. That was his second year there and the process was already started. This is a little different. This is his first year and we are laying the ground work for the process. Still, it has been enjoyable to be back out on the court and playing for him. It is different for me knowing that I have this opportunity to play again and to do that under Coach Ladner. It is really a blessing and I am enjoying it tremendously."

Rigby is a reserve guard on the squad and got two minutes on the floor against LA Tech where he was credited with a rebound in the game.

Ladner was a fixture on the hardwood in the Pine Belt area growing up in Oak Grove and prepping for the Warriors. He was a three-sport letter winner in high school.playing football, basketball and baseball. He won a state baseball championship under legendary Harry Breland before taking his trade on the hardwood and diamond to USM.

At USM, Ladner played two seasons for Hill Denson on the baseball team and four years of basketball under the legendary M.K. Turk. Ladner was a reserve guard on the 1987 NIT national championship team. Now, he is back home leading his alma mater. Ladner added, "The response of the community has been humbling and the support we have received is outstanding. We want to make USM relevant on a national level. It will not happen overnight. But, it is humbling and inspirational to me to be able to do whatever I can do to help rebuild this program. The foundation is being laid and we are working nonstop to achieve that goal."

The shortest drive for either team was one play and the longest drive of the game was 10 plays.

The game was one for the pages and it will go down in history as ageless. The ones that were present to witness it will never forget it while those who missed it will always wonder what it was like. It was both a dream and a nightmare for this statistician and sportswriter.

'DOLLY SHOULD' - COME TO OLD TOWN BSL

BY THE HANCOCK CHAMBER

The Old Town Merchants Association (OTMA) and its members welcome everyone to cruise on in downtown Bay St. Louis and experience the Second Saturday Art Walk this Saturday, Jan. 11, where the shopping will be accompanied by great food, beverages and live entertainment. Also known as Second Saturday, the event has become a regional favorite and regularly draws visitors from New Orleans to Biloxi.

This month's Artwalk coincides with the fifth annual "Dolly Should" celebration.

The crowd was bigger, brassier and bustier than ever for the fourth annual "Dolly Should" Festival last year, and event organizers say it will be even bigger this Saturday for the fifth annual event.

Smith and Lens owners Ann Madden and Sandy Maggio started the event five years ago because "We needed another iconic female who is really good, and Dolly is perfect," Maggio said during last year's celebration. "She's talented and smart and gives back to the community. We're all about this community."

As always, the event will be capped of by a Dolly look-alike contest. Registration is scheduled from 5-7 p.m. Saturday at Smith & Lens, 106 S. Second St.
